

Week Jan29 Feb2

Sunday, 04 February 2007

The markets remained almost flat over the week ended February 2 2007 with the BSE Sensex gained 136.59 points. The Tatas acquired Corus making it the 5 largest steel company and putting another Indian company in the fortune 500 companies a great day for India though they might have overpaid and the markets punished it for it with the great management they have they should be a great investment opportunity.
